Forecast For East Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Friday 03 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Showers spreading in overnight.

This Evening and Tonight:
Largely dry with some clearer spells this evening. Patchy cloud increasing overnight however as scattered showers spread east, turning heavy at times into the early hours. Minimum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Saturday:
Rather cloudy, chilly and breezy, with showers or longer spells rain. These will be heavy at times and locally wintry on hills. Maximum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Chilly Sunday with strong winds and outbreaks of rain, sleet and hill snow gradually easing. Bands of rain and strong winds tracking eastwards Monday and Tuesday, preceded by some snow.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.